RESEARCH PROJECTS

(in SDA Bocconi, Italy, 1987-1994, and in Universidad Torcuato Di Tella, Argentina, as from 1994)

- (2019-ongoing) Impact Measurement and Management (IMM). The Inclusive Business Think Tank of the University Di Tella (ENI-Di Tella), Duke University, in collaboration with the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) and the Impact Management Project (IMP), are working to launch an effort in 2019 to produce a global online training series on impact measurement and management (IMM) as it relates to achieving the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) through impact investment.
 - Coursera course Impact Measurement and Management for the SDGs <https://www.coursera.org/learn/impact-for-sdgs>
- (2012-on going) Defining markets. Several researchers have pointed out that for marketing to develop as a discipline as well as to contribute to solving complex business and societal challenges, it should question the traditional neo-classical view of markets and develop a new theory of markets (Buzzell 1999, Venkatesh et al. 2006, Vargo & Lusch 2008, Ellis et al. 2010). This research stream generated a seminal article:
 - "Is Service Management experiencing a Change of Era?" co-author Mele, C. in Handbook of Service Management (eds) Edvardsson, B. and Stronvoll, B., Palgrave, 2021
 - "Change of Era or Era of Change? in The Impact of the COVID-19 on International Business: Change of Era, (eds) Marinov, M. and Marinova, S., Routledge, 19-26, 2021
 - "A Holistic Market Conceptualization", by Mele, C., Pels, J., and Storbacka, K., Journal of the Academy of Marketing Science Volume 43, Issue 1, January, pp. 100-114, 2015.

A series of paper and chapters were written following this publication

 - "Shaping Service Ecosystems: exploring the Dark Side of agency" co-authors, Nenonen, S., Kaartemo, V., Mele, C., Storbacka, K., Wernicje, C., and Nariswari, A., Journal of Service Management, 29 (4), 521-545, 2018.
 - "Developing Midrange Theory for Emerging Markets: a service-dominant logic perspective", co-author Mele, C., Chapter 35 in Sage Handbook on Service-Dominant Logic, (eds) Vargo, S.L. and Lusch, R.F., Sage, 599-618, 2018
 - "A New Perspective on Market Dynamics: Market Plasticity and the Stability-Fluidity Dialectics", co-authors Suvi Nenonen, Hans Kjellberg, Lilliemay Cheung, Sara Linderman, Cristina Mele, Laszlo Sajtos, Kaj Storbacka, Marketing Theory, Vol 14, No.3, September, 2014.
- (2008- on going) Inclusive Business. Prahalad (2005) calls our attention to the BOP as potential market. An inclusive business is a sustainable business that benefits lower-income communities. Inclusive business is not corporate philanthropy, which has inherent limitations of scope and budget. Rather, it is the search for viable (sustainable) business models that "do well by doing good", and have the potential to become part of the mainstream business model. Large corporations traditionally target consumers in the middle and high-income segments of society, and buy from established suppliers and service providers from the formal economy. Inclusive businesses find profitable ways to engage low-income communities through: directly employing low-income people, as suppliers of goods and services, or by providing affordable goods and services targeted at low-income communities. The current study generated a series of publications:
 - "Antifragility Strategies: The Arbusta case in COVID 19 Argentina", co-author Kharoubi Echenique, L., in Community, the Economy, and the COVID-19 Pandemic: Lessons Learned in Community and Market Development (eds) Shultz, C., Sirgy, J. and Rahtz, D., Springer Publishing, 2021
 - Democratizing the access to formal markets: Challenges for informal sellers", in Marketing to the Poor, (eds) Wani, T. A. and Singh, R. Routledge (Taylor and Francis Group), 2021
 - "Serving the Invisible Poor: Segmenting the Market", co-author Sheth, J., Journal Global Marketing, vol 43 (4), 270-281, 2021
 - "Informal Sellers and Formal Markets: A Habitus Gap", co-authors Araujo, L and Kidd, T. Journal of Business and Industrial Markets, 2021
 - "Designing Solutions for the low-income consumer markets: Four schools of thought", co-author Sheth J.N., chapter 5 in Bottom of the Pyramid Marketing: Making, Shaping and Developing BOP Markets, (ed) Singh, R., Emerald, 2018.

- “Developing Midrange Theory for Emerging Markets: a service-dominant logic perspective”, co-author Mele C., Chapter 35 in The SAGE Handbook of Service-Dominant Logic, Lusch R.F., Vargo S.L. and Koskela-Huotari K. (eds), SAGE, 599-618, 2018
- “Business Models to Serve Low Income Consumers in Emerging Markets”, co-author Sheth, J.N., Marketing Theory, Volume 17 Issue 3, pp. 373-391, 2017
- “Market resource gaps: Identifying resources to co-create solutions that facilitate consumption”, co-author Lisa Abendroth, Marketing Theory, 17 issue: 3, pp.: 357-371, 2017
- “The role of shared intentions in the emergence of service ecosystems”, co-authors Taillard Marie, Peters Linda and Mele Cristina, Journal of Business Research, Volume 69 Issue 8, 2972-2980, 2016
- “VSA and SDL Contribution to Strategic Thinking in Emerging Economies”, co-author Sergio Barile, Maria Luisa Saviano, Francesco Polese, Managing Service Quality, Vol. 24, No. 6, pp. 565-591 2014
- “Characterizing Emerging Markets”, co-author Kidd, T., Organizations and Markets in Emerging Economies, Vol. 3, No. 2 (6), p. 8-22, 2012
- “The Service Dominant Logic: A Conceptual Foundation to Address the Underserved”, International Journal of Rural Management, special issue on "Rural Marketing: Marketing to Rural, Poor, or Disadvantaged Consumers", Sage publications, Vol 8, No 1,2, p.61-83, 2012
- 1998-2015: Understanding Contemporary Marketing Practice in BRIC countries. This project aims at replicating the CMP study in Emerging Markets. The CMP study is a cross-country study of contemporary marketing practices and managerial perceptions about marketing, in a context that integrates both traditional and relational views of marketing (<http://cmp.auckland.ac.nz/>). The most prominent CMP article, Coviello et al (2002) “How Firms Relate to Their Markets: An Empirical Examination of Contemporary Marketing Practices” Journal of Marketing, was international in its nature but did not contemplate Emerging Markets (EM) in its sample. Previous CMP studies in EM and preliminary and partial data analysis suggest that Contemporary Marketing Practices in EM share some communality with Developed Markets but also have marketing practices that are specific to EM cultural, economic, legal, political environment. Associated publications are:
 - “Contemporary Marketing Practices in Latina America: The cases of Argentina and Brazil”, co-authors Gabriel Levrimi, Tomas Kidd, Russian Management Journal, Volume 13 (1), pp. 27-42, 2015
 - Do we Really Understand Business Marketing? Getting Beyond RM and BM Matrimony, co-authors Möller, K.E. and Saren, M., Journal of Business and Industrial Marketing, Vol. 24, N. 5/6, 2009
 - Business-To-Business Marketing Practices in Emerging Economies: West Africa and Argentina Benchmarked with The United States, co-authors Dadzie, K. And Johnston, W; Journal of Business and Industrial Marketing, Vol 23., p. 115-123 2008, 2009 Highly Commended Award
- 2009-2012 The Emerging Perspectives for Management and Marketing Studies. Joint research with the Mid Sweden University (Sweden) and Università degli Studi di Cassino (Italy). The scientific goal of the project is to root “Service Science” in the three/four University units and to create a leading group of scholars that foster service science studies internationally, contributing to international debate and guiding its development. A specific international publication (in the form of a book edited by the 3 units) will follow the final workshop, and several papers and contributes will be written along all the research period.
 - Complexity and Governance”, co-authors Barile. S. and Polese, F., Global Encyclopedia of Public Administration, Public Policy, and Governance, (ed) Farazmand, A., Springer, 2018

 - “Configurational fit: Pathways for successful value co-creation” co-author Polese, F. in Polese, F., von Friedrichs, Y. (eds), Perspectives of Service Science Research, Special Issue of the Journal Impresa, Ambiente, Management, Vol. 3, No. 2, 2010
 - A Brief Review of Systems Theories and their Managerial Applications, co-authors Mele, C. and Polese, F., Journal of Service Science, Vol. 2 (1) 2010
- 2002-2010: Managers as Interpreters of the Context and their Role in Decision Making. Shrivastava and Mitroff (1984) invite academics to look at managerial assumptions, “with the exception of a small number of theorists few have given any importance to the role of managerial assumptions and the implicit cognitive maps in explaining organizational behaviour” the aim of this study is to help bridge this gap. This position does not ignore the role of external factors, rather, it aims at introducing, in the marketing debate, an aspect that has been present in other managerial disciplines and that both researchers and managers could benefit from in their study of marketing choices

- 1999-2000: Designing Marketing Channels for Business Products in Emerging Markets: A Comparison of Practices in Argentina and the United States. Sponsored by the ISBM
